Spring 2017

Welcome to our first newsletter of 2017. We continue to fund the doctor who treats the Roma children at The Little Angels project in Albania. In Romania, we have been asked for all of our funding to support the refuge for the trafficked women and their children.

Projects Update

Uganda

Congratulations to all of our donors! The new Feed My Lamb School in Uganda is complete and was opened on Monday, February 13th for the Street Children from Kampala and many of the orphans from the local parish of Gweri who have never attended school. What a result!

As planned many months ago, 68 children with their Guardians travelled by bus from the slum in Kampala to their new homes in the village, 300km away, just outside Fort Portal. The countryside there is beautiful; their homes are proper houses and their new school is impressive, spacious and safe, built to government standards.

On our recent visit to review the Ugandan project, we saw the very impressive school housing six classrooms, an area for administration, a staffroom, a library, a kitchen and the toilets. We also saw the arable and fish farming projects which will not only help feed the children, but are being developed to ensure the eventual self-sufficiency of the school.

This achievement is absolutely huge and the excitement of Dorcus, the managers of the school and especially the street children we met in Kampala was overwhelming. Your amazing generosity has brought new hope for a better future, not just for these children, but for their children and future generations to come. Thank You!

Thank You!

A huge THANK YOU to everyone who supported or helped at our 15th Annual dinner last year. It raised £2,248 for our projects.

In 2016, the porch box at church contained a generous £494.

The 2016 book quiz made £63 and was won by the Pocock family.

Thank you to all who donate regularly by standing order, this yearly income is now over £10,500. This really helps project planning.
